

Permission and Release

I hereby grant to the Library of Congress ("Library") the following rights and permissions in connection with the 2022 Library of Congress National Book Festival and related events ("Activity"), to be held at the Washington Convention Center, Library of Congress premises, and/or online. The festival is scheduled for September 3, 2022, with related events that may take place on or around that date and a continued online presence following that date.

This Permission and Release applies to audio recordings, audiovisual recordings, and photographs of me or prepared by me in connection with the Activity and any additional materials that I may contribute for use in connection with the Activity (including, without limitation, still photographs and biographies) ("Materials").

Permission. I hereby grant to the Library the worldwide, nonexclusive, transferable, perpetual, irrevocable, royalty-free right to use the Materials for noncommercial purposes in connection with the Activity, including, without limitation, associated promotional and educational purposes. This right includes the right to reproduce, prepare derivative works from, distribute, perform, display, or otherwise make use of the Materials, in any form, media, or technology, now known or later developed, including television, radio, satellite, cable, and the Internet (including, without limitation, streaming, podcasting, and on websites with user-generated content, such as Facebook and YouTube).

The Library may request my permission to use the Materials for other purposes by sending a written request to the email address provided below. My permission will be deemed granted if the Library does not receive a response within 30 days.

The Library may also use my name and biographical information in connection with the Activity.

Release. I expressly release the Library and its agents, employees, and assigns from any and all claims that I have or may have for copyright infringement, right of publicity, invasion of privacy, defamation, and any other causes of action arising out of any use of my name, biographical material, or the Materials that is consistent with this Permission and Release.

Warranty. I warrant that I have the full authority to license my participation in the Activity, (including providing Materials for the Activity) and that the use of the Materials as contemplated in this Permission and Release will not infringe any third party's copyrights, publicity or privacy rights, or related rights. I do not have any contractual or other legal obligation that would in any way interfere with my full, prompt, and complete performance of this Permission and Release.
